THE HILLTOPPER
1955

ANNUAL PUBLICATION
BY THE SENIORS
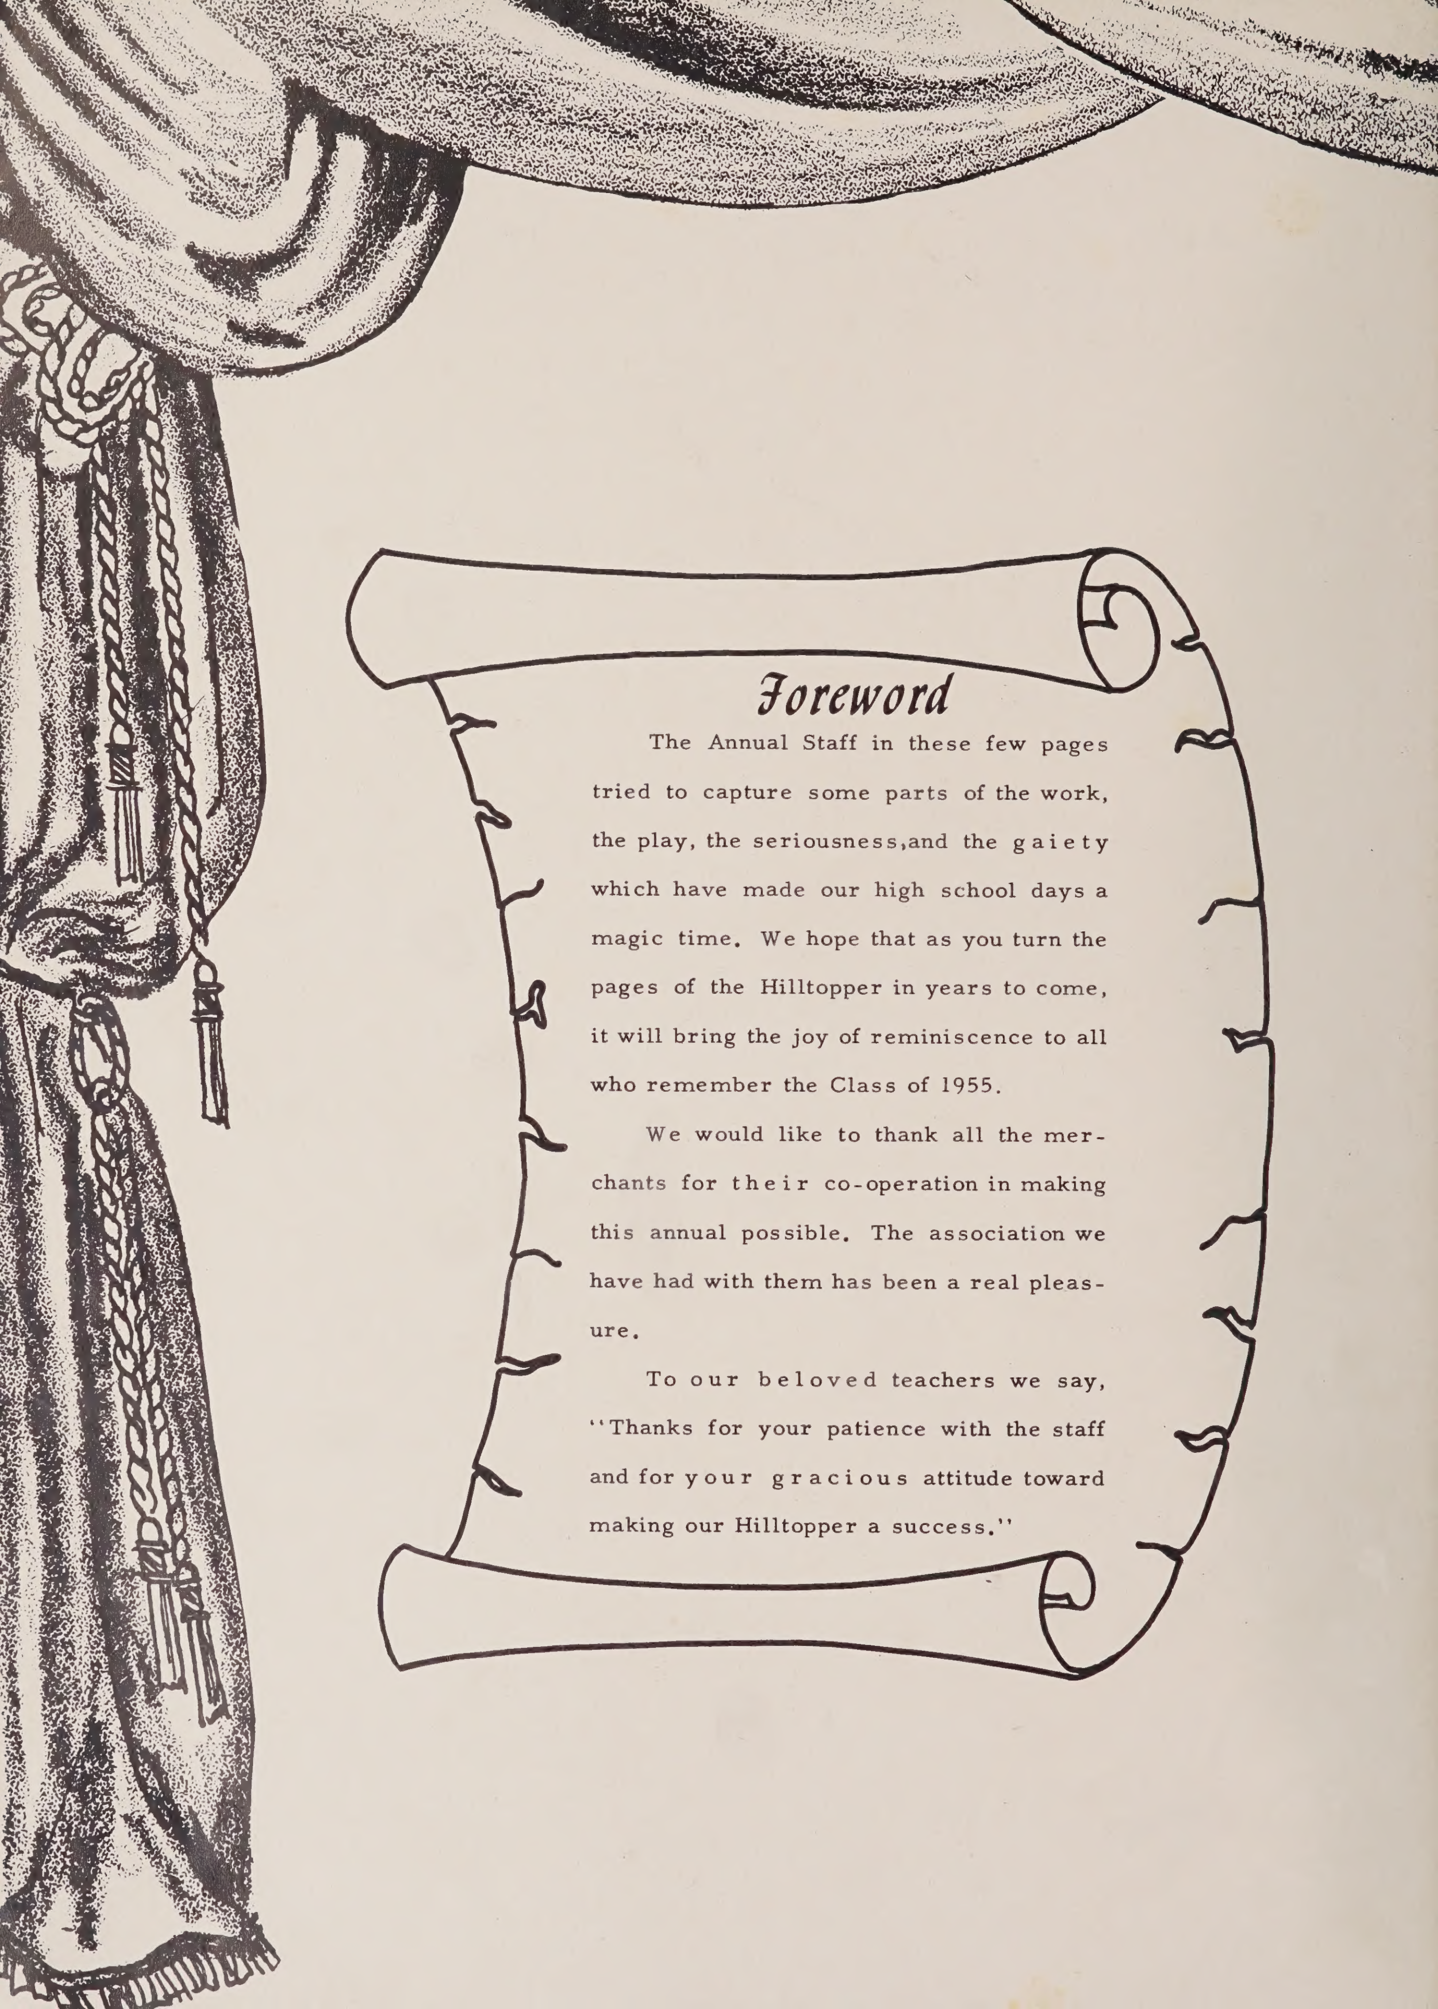
OF

BETHEL HILL HIGH SCHOOL
Woodsdale, North Carolina

Editor-in-Chief . . . . . . Betty Woody



Foreword

The Annual Staff in these few pages tried to capture some parts of the work, the play, the seriousness, and the gaiety which have made our high school days a magic time. We hope that as you turn the pages of the Hilltopper in years to come, it will bring the joy of reminiscence to all who remember the Class of 1955.

We would like to thank all the merchants for their co-operation in making this annual possible. The association we have had with them has been a real pleasure.

To our beloved teachers we say, "Thanks for your patience with the staff and for your gracious attitude toward making our Hilltopper a success."

Dedication

Class Prophecy

One warm spring afternoon in April, 1964, as I lay across my bed, I felt on my shoulder a tapping. A calm voice said to me, ''Louise, Louise.'' As I looked I saw a spirit with a magic wand. Just as Scrooge's spirit escorted him, I went with this spirit to look into the future of my classmates.

My first visit was to Meredith College, Raleigh, North Carolina. There I saw Marlene Clayton, head of the Home Economics Department, giving instructions to her students on how to win a husband.

Next I went to Charlotte, North Carolina. Carolyn Duncan was in her office compiling her monthly report. She is head of the Commercial Department of the city schools.

By this time night had come, and we drifted over to Winston Salem to the most modern drive-in theater of North Carolina. Its owners were Hugh Long and David Good. Hugh was instructing David on the mechanisms of a movie projector. David.had just finished a course on movie operations.

Calvin Boyd, whom we visited next, was manager of the Ford Manufacturing Company, Detroit, Michigan. He was making plans with his designer, Baxter Tuck, for next year's model.

The spirit and I had grown tired of drifting. We decided to ride. Inside the bus station, whom should I meet but Hilton Hawkins, now a large stock owner in the Greyhound Bus Line.

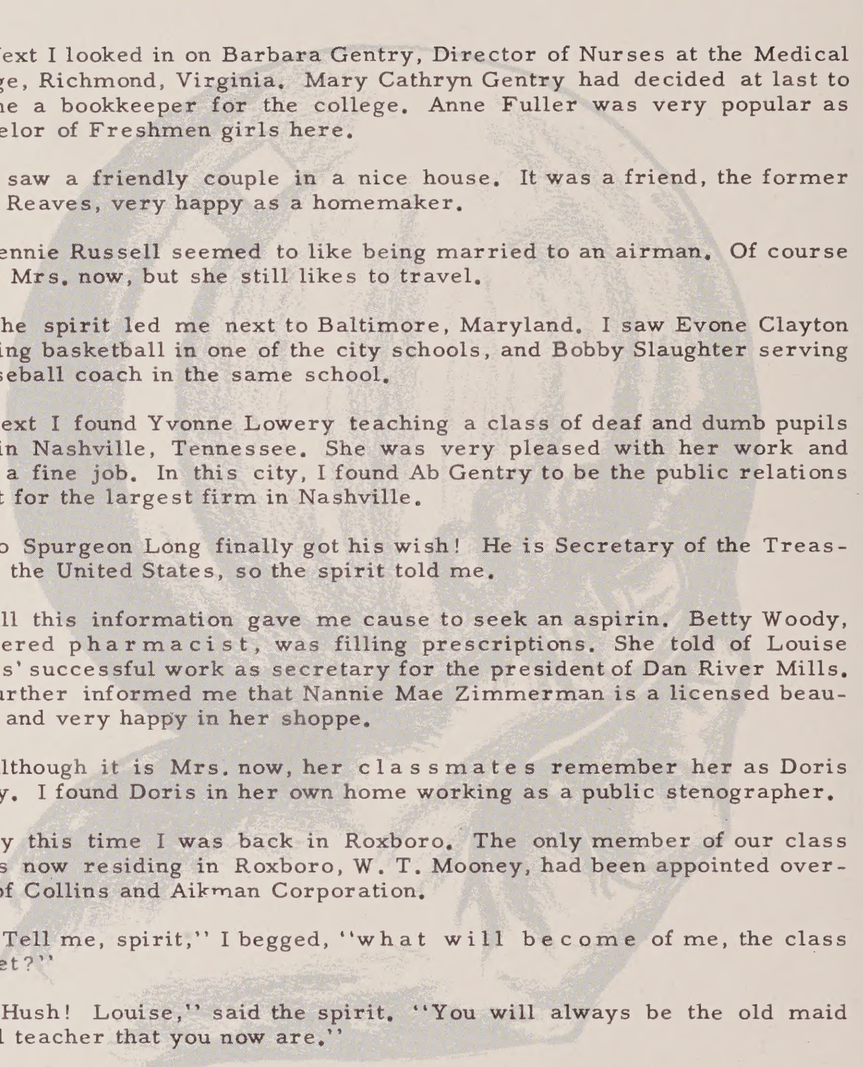
In the bus at last--I sat down by a man. When he turned his head, I was startled to see George Powell. He told me he was traveling to the National Farm Bureau's Meeting in Washington, D. C., and at the present is overseer of his one-thousand-acre farm.

The spirit and I grew idle and wished for reading material. We stopped in Washington, D. C., for a newspaper. When we went into the newspaper office, we found James Whitlow to be the editor of the paper. On the front page of the paper was a picture of Bill Oakley, who was voted golf champion of the year along with his charming wife, the former Jean Lowery.

I grew hungry so we sailed hurriedly through the air to Richmond, Virginia. A dairy bar attracted me, so I asked who could be the owner of such a spacious site and delicious products. A small boy told me that Janie Chandler was the owner, and William May owned the dairy that supplied the milk.

Again I picked up the paper I had laid aside. Good! On the social page were the pictures of Joyce Yancey, who was getting married. Up in the corner was a familiar name, Peggy Compton, society editor.

Class Prophecy



Next I looked in on Barbara Gentry, Director of Nurses at the Medical College, Richmond, Virginia. Mary Cathryn Gentry had decided at last to become a bookkeeper for the college. Anne Fuller was very popular as counselor of Freshmen girls here.

I saw a friendly couple in a nice house. It was a friend, the former Clara Reaves, very happy as a homemaker.

Jennie Russell seemed to like being married to an airman. Of course she is Mrs. now, but she still likes to travel.

The spirit led me next to Baltimore, Maryland. I saw Evone Clayton coaching basketball in one of the city schools, and Bobby Slaughter serving as baseball coach in the same school.

Next I found Yvonne Lowery teaching a class of deaf and dumb pupils over in Nashville, Tennessee. She was very pleased with her work and doing a fine job. In this city, I found Ab Gentry to be the public relations expert for the largest firm in Nashville.

So Spurgeon Long finally got his wish! He is Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, so the spirit told me.

All this information gave me cause to seek an aspirin. Betty Woody, registered pharmacist, was filling prescriptions. She told of Louise Reaves' successful work as secretary for the president of Dan River Mills. She further informed me that Nannie Mae Zimmerman is a licensed beautician and very happy in her shoppe.

Although it is Mrs. now, her classmates remember her as Doris Oakley. I found Doris in her own home working as a public stenographer.

By this time I was back in Roxboro. The only member of our class who is now residing in Roxboro, W. T. Mooney, had been appointed overseer of Collins and Aikman Corporation.

''Tell me, spirit,'' I begged, ''what will become of me, the class prophet?''

''Hush! Louise,'' said the spirit. ''You will always be the old maid school teacher that you now are.''

Having found that all my classmates were very contented and successful, and having found out my future, I was lulled by the spirit into a very peaceful slumber.

Louise Dickerson
Class Prophet

Last Will And Testament

I, Peggy Compton, leave my shyness to Lucille Powell.
I, Louise Dickerson, leave my dignity to R. B. Wilborn.
I, David Good, leave my northern brogue to Bobby Long and Stanley Zimmerman.
I, Yvonne Lowery, leave my excess weight to my cousin, Alice Lowery.
I, Hugh Long, will my position on the ball team to my brother, Wesley Long, John Shotwell and Marvin Self.
I, Marlene Clayton, leave my A's to Karl Ray Gentry.
I, William May, leave my girl friends to Bobby Murray.
I, Mary Cathryn Gentry, leave my freckles to Amelia Gillis, and hope she has as much fun with them as I have had.
We, Bill Oakley and Jean Lowery, leave to be alone.
I, Jennie Russell, leave my ability to write love letters to Esther Melton.
I, George Powell, leave my ability to skip any class at any time to anyone who can get away with it.
I, Bobby Slaughter, leave--thank goodness!
I, Clara Shull, leave my ability to get a MRS. degree to Anne May.
I, Ab Gentry, leave all the girls crying.
I, Anne Fuller, leave my ability to never be without a boy friend to Helen Sue Clayton.
I, W. T. Mooney, will my Ford to Raynard Clayton and David Gentry to be used on alternate nights to carry Shirley Hawkins and Ruth Duncan to basketball games.
We, Evone Clayton and Doris Oakley, leave our ability to play basketball to Shelby Howerton and Dorothy Jones.
I, Barbara Gentry, leave my job as president of student body to whoever wants it.
I, James Whitlow, will my six feet to Rennis Puryear.
I, Louise Reaves, leave my quietness to Nancy Tuck.
I, Betty Woody, leave my ability as editor of Hilltopper to my sister, Nancy Woody.
I, Joyce Yancey, leave my smiles to Norma Jean and Peggy Carver.
I, Hilton Hawkins, leave my photogenic ability to Tony Black.
I, Nannie Zimmerman, leave my sweet disposition to Constance Cash, Alice Pentecost and Annie Belle Nelson.
I, Gracie Lowery, leave silently to be replaced by Alma Melton, Libby Gentry and Joyce Anne Lowery.
We, Baxter Tuck and Calvin Boyd, leave our close companionship to Dale Adcock, Ernest Wilson and Wilbur Brann.
I, Spurgeon Long, leave my ability as a typist to Shirley Dixon and Katie Yarboro.
I, Carolyn Duncan, leave my typewriter to Jean Wilborn, and my ability as an artist to Jane Gentry.
I, Janie Chandler, leave for Korea to be with Buddy.
